Big boots to fill at 'The Welly'

The Shoreham pub famous for its great real ale and landmark large boot that hangs outside, has a new licensee.

Kimberley Georgiou has taken over at The Duke of Wellington, having worked at Linfield's Stand Up Inn, another pub owned by the Sussex brewer, Dark Star. Kimberly, by her own admission has some big boots to fill, with the departure of the popular landlord, Roy Chuter, a well-known beer, football and music enthusiast.

Kimberley said: "The opportunity to take over from Roy at The Welly is a great honour and a challenge I'm really looking forward to getting my teeth into. Under Roy's enthusiasm, the pub has already established itself as a place to enjoy the best live music in the area, along with a great pint. My role must be to take Roy's progress on again, ensuring that visitors are going to enjoy great bands across a wide range of genres, as well as keep Roy's passion for great real ale at the forefront of what's good about The Welly."
